Subject: My New talk on Perception and the Nature of Belief

This is the talk I gave recently in Munich on the Nature of Belief, setting out some of my original and rather transformative new ideas I have in perception and how we build up belief systems. I have been recently asked to give this talk at various key venues around the world...

Thought you might be interested, even if time does not permit to set it all out here. You will need to interact with the talk as per instructions.
