I seek the mystery of life and time The key of all that in not and that is And that which- climb! imagination! climb! -Transcenus them both - the mystical abyss Where mind and being marry and are bliss

All our divisions spring in our own brain See! As upsprings on the horizon there A clefted hill contemptuous of the plain. Why? Which is higher? I am in despair Let me assay the Tharaoh and His prayer."

Kneel before Aleister again:-

" O Master for all Eternity, may You return to Earth and breathe the sweet breezes of the North Wind and drink water upon the swirl of the new water. And aid me now as I....."

Before Closing the Circle, Aleister must be thanked along with the Watchers.

This concludes the Invocation Rite to Aleister Crowley, from Soror Moonshee's Ordine Della Luna study notes. Ce. 1985 ish. The little known relationship and extent that Alex Sanders of Hastings was interested in the teachings and method of Aleister Crowley could prove to be an interesting field of historical and magical research in the future.

Ceremony above performed by Dale and one other priestess. It is unclear whether Alex Sanders also performed or wrote this rite - Jean
