

DIALOGUE SIX

1 Tell me more about Purpose.

It is the most misunderstood of all concepts, and therefore the most invalidated. It is beset by irony and contradiction. After receiving information and power, beings always come back with the same response; "But now I have no purpose. You have taken it away from me."

This is because they have been given purpose where they had only hope, ambition and aspiration and they cannot recognise it.

They have to see these last as purpose, and real purpose they see as mere pointless and directionless activity.

Even when purpose is defined for them and they see it consciously, the unconscious, the occupying power, cries out in protest from both sides of its own conflict.

2 Why is this?

Purpose is the enemy of unconscious conflict, which is true purposelessness, being power turned against itself. The fantastic protest of purposelessness that the unconscious goes in for should give an indication of this.

3 What is the function of Purpose?

You mean, of course; what is its purpose?

To feed information that is calculated to bring a fulfillment of purpose as opposed to purposelessness.

Its prime message to you would be 'detach from the unconscious' (which is the enemy of purpose), 'reabsorb the energy you have squandered in conflict, thereby starving and thus eliminating the conflict, and redirect that energy towards resuming and maintaining a flow of information and power, and validation between you and GOD.'

4 What is Intention?

Intention is always with Purpose. They work hand in glove. Without Intention, Purpose cannot exist, and without Purpose, Intention has no direction or manifestation. Intention's purpose is the creation of Purpose.

5 And what is Money?

Money is the most solid manifestation of physical responsibility. Through it there is unlimited scope for taking responsibility on a purely material level. On the other hand lack of it is an equally effective limitation against such responsibility. If you are to fulfill your purpose you must have money.

And money is the prime spiritual trap. the adage 'Money is the root of all evil' is the classic example of using spiritual demands to restrict the scope of physical responsibility, and therefore maintain a state of purposelessness.

6 Tell me about Redemption.

Redemption is freedom from the stalemate of the exclusion of GOD.

A being redeems FOR GOD the energy he is squandering in conflict. A being redeems his contact WITH GOD, he redeems his awareness OF GOD. GOD redeems the being, who by his own efforts has uncreated the vicious circle of his unconscious conflicts and redeemed his true purpose.
