

MANAGING EDITOR'S NOTE

My apologies to readers for past delays in sending out the Journal. We have had problems with printing and binding the journal due to computer glitches of one sort or another. I've had 10 years experience in the printing industry, and ever since printing became computer-based, I can honestly say that needless complexity has become a hallmark of that innovation, often involving incompatibility of computer systems that can cause infuriating delays. However, having become acutely aware of this problem, and wishing to avoid the Christmas-New Year's shutdown in Australia, which extends from the first week before Christmas to the end of January, we have prepared and sent out the December 2006 issue earlier than usual. We at the AIPR value your continued support in spite of past delays, and hope you enjoy this current issue. We would also like to take this opportunity to wish you a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!
